Religion becomes what Jesus referred to as “whitewashed tombs” — pretty on the outside but a rotting corpse on the inside. Without a strong religious community, spirituality becomes entirely about me — my own thoughts, desires, and whims. Spirituality becomes me shaping God in my image, rather than the other way around. Wherever you are ...

Why People Say, “I Believe in God, But Not Religion ...

The English word religion is derived from the Latin word religio, which refers to “the fear or awe one feels in the presence of a spirit or a god.”² If God is the Maximally Great Being, and we have determined that if we believe that God is Maximally Great that He deserves honor and respect, then I think that “fear and awe” go hand in with interacting with a Maximally Great Being.

Nontheistic religion - Wikipedia

There is something else. Knowing God takes no effort whatsoever. Effort is the baggage of religion. Virtually all of them, too. While most religions seem to start out right -- that is, with the purpose of helping people know and feel connected to themselves, to life, to the Divine -- it isn't long before they turn spiritual grants into religious loans that must be repaid with obligations and ...
