These kinds of values matter to me and I was pleased that they are alive and well in the Quaker faith. I also believe that these values matter deep down to everyone, though many are not fully conscious of their personal significance. And, as Gulley points out, we can all aspire to live the Quaker way whether we join their fold or not.

Book Review: Living the Quaker Way

Yet, the town can hardly provide educational, social and health care services for 10,000. Sleep-deprived newcomers leave early in the morning to get to their workplaces in the capital over daily commuting distances of 2-3 hours. The relentless repetition of this timeless cycle makes them more alienated and more frustrated day by day.
